

IT companies are under constant pressure to develop advanced and scalable IT solutions on an extremely aggressive timeline while dealing with cost issues brought about by high customer expectations and the unbending competition at local and global levels.

It takes an exceptional set of skills and unparalleled experience to stand alongside and represent major players in the information technology industry. Callbox has both. We are proud to have, in our roster of clients, manufacturers, resellers, and licensed specialists of some of the biggest names in IT including SAGE, Microsoft, SAP and Oracle.

Our industry-specific expertise allows us to provide solid IT telemarketing solutions for providers of information technology products and services through our IT lead generation and appointment setting services. We target prominent decision makers from top IT solutions providers including IT Managers, Chief Information Officers, IT Directors, Chief Technology Officers, Senior VPs for Information Systems, and other top executives.

We help you reach and capture your target customers and present to them your products and services as you seek to regulate costs, implement new technologies, and deliver customer-centric solutions. By delivering the technology sales leads your business requires to get ahead of the competition, we fill your need to address customer demands and maximize market growth opportunities.

We generate IT sales leads and set appointments for the following services:

- Back-up and Disaster Recovery Solutions
- Data Warehousing
- Network Management
- IT Consulting Services
- Web Hosting, Design and Development
- System Integration
- Security Solutions
- VOIP/IP Telephony
- Telecommunications
